

Liability: Assistance or Advice at Request of Government

La. R.S. 29:771(B)(2)(d)

When a public health emergency declaration is in effect, a person, corporation, or an employee of a corporation, who provides assistance or advice at the request of the state or a political subdivision, will not be held legally responsible for damage or injury to a person or property. They can be held legally responsible if acting with extreme carelessness or intent to cause harm.
