

Good Samaritan Law: CPR

76 Okl. St. 5(a)(2)

An individual, who, in good faith, provides emergency CPR or artificial respiration to the victim of an accident or emergency, will not be held legally responsible for acting or for failing to act. They can be held legally responsible if acting with extreme carelessness or intent to cause harm.

Generally, Good Samaritan laws only offer protection for those individuals who provide care during spontaneous emergencies unrelated to volunteer deployment.

Responsibility for?Negligence?Good Samaritan Act

(a) Everyone is responsible, not only for the result of his willful acts, but also for an injury occasioned to another by his want of ordinary care or skill in the management of his property or person, except so far as the latter has, willfully or by want of ordinary care, brought the injury upon himself, and except as hereinafter provided.
